

December 03, 2009

Bethenny Frankel's Skinnygirl Margarita rocks Houston

In a season of brainless and brain-addled "celebrities" on Bravo's The Real Housewives of New York City, Bethenny Frankel stood out as the smart one. Funny, sharp and quick witted, Frankel was a believable (and likeable) player in the Manhattan social swirl. And there was a sweetness -- a low-calorie sweetness, for sure -- to her story of launching her Skinnygirl brand.

Now Frankel writes another chapter in that story with the introduction of her Skinnygirl Margarita, a pre-mixed margarita that has only 100 calories per four-ounce serving. Made with tequila, a hint of agave nectar, lime juice and triple sec, the Skinnygirl Margarita is now available in Houston at Spec's stores for about $14.99 per 750ml bottle.

The author of Naturally Thin, Frankel calls herself a "fix-ologist" -- a mixologist who fixes recipes that can be enjoyed without too much damage to the waistline. We're sure a lot of people will be glad she fixed the margarita so that skinny girls everywhere can stay that way.

But you know what's even smarter? You don't have to be on a diet or watching your figure to enjoy a skinny-tini. Frankel's PR hints that Skinnygirl will play a roll in Frankel's upcoming realty show spinoff on Bravo. We'll be watching with a Skinnygirl Margarita in hand.

Posted by Greg Morago at December 3, 2009 01:24 PM

Associated Press